Day 13 and I started working on battleship but had to leave and go to work. So I started to play this afternoon, and just noticed a lot of things in there. So I just want to check stuff out. There's a bunch of new stuff and other things that I wanted to check out and there's a lot here. In the end, I decided that I wanted to spend more time finishing Learn to Code and go through that and stay focused, and then go explore a little bit more rather than just kind of bounce around real willy nilly through things.
