Day three. I'm having some fun playing with some stuff and revisiting some old memories. This is a fun little puzzle. I also love the green texture. But I also want to solve it a different way. I always tell my kids to look for different options and so I did it a second time. Blink is a lot of fun that brings back some memories. Blink reminds me of the predator prey scenarios I would do a biology class. There's a lot of cool I had fun with it.

See you tomorrow.
