So my goal today was to get the playground book working and be able to see it in on the Mac in Swift Playgrounds. And I did that I had to figure out about building it and working with the manifests, and a couple of little things like that there was just a little bit of investigating a little bit of fun figuring it out, but kind of working. And that was cool to see. And that was really good. And it felt really good to have that success today. This looks intimidating, but actually, once I got into it, there's only a couple of things there. It's not as bad as it seems.
