

Transcript

I made some progress this morning and doesn't look like a whole lot. You'll see in just a second. But I was able to get the background change to red and do some work to get the book, managing it and actually making things and getting a little bit headway in there. This may not look like a whole lot, but I actually was able to work on some things and programmatically, make the view red.