Hey, I'm adding more things to my code. And so I put a reset button in and got that to work. I had to do some little tricks to show that it works because I still got some things to work on it, but we're making progress. So here's the reset button. And like I said, I was giant to see if I could get it to work and I had to put some code that would tell me that it does reset or it gets called by working on getting it to show better on the screen.
