Hey, I'm making progress solving problems, but it's just taking a little while and that's one of the things you're just gonna have to keep plugging away at it. And sometimes you just got to stop, come back at it tomorrow. That's what I'm doing. I found the problem, I think, and working on the solution and just ran into it's going to take a little longer than I thought it would originally no big deal. Okay, so this shows where I'm working at it, and where the error came up when my sheep ran off the screen. And so I've got to fix that and that's just going to take a little longer to do so I will work on that tomorrow.
