So for day 61, I've been learning how to get pieces to interact with each other play sounds and do other types of interactions which will be very helpful for my simulation as I get moving, but also learn some things that they shouldn't do and how to import things like sounds into my project better. So the first time I just dragged the folder straight into the project, and it was blue, and that did not work. I found I had to create the folder first, then bring in the audio files. Check out my conga line here.
