

Transcript

So now we have a score counter working, you can see that in the corner there and I figured out how to place it and move it around. So let me get back to my project. Okay, wrapping up another week and it's very fitting that I finished this part of the tutorial that gets me back to my project. So that's really good timing. I like that and gives me the weekend to really work on making this into part of my project.