

Transcript

Hey, it's the end of another week. It's day 70 and I jumped back into a tutorial so I can work on some data so that I can track how long the characters in my simulation have been alive and their health states and things like that. You can't see all the stuff behind the scenes that I need to learn. But there is some cool stuff here to see and this is a lot of fun.