Hey, it's day 89. And I've had a wonderful journey we're getting near the end. And I had some people asked recently about prototyping app and designing it out in Keynote, and that cross that whole process, and I've mentioned it several times throughout over the last couple months, but never talked about where that comes from. So I want to show you a guide that takes you through that process, wrote it with some friends of mine, came out with some work this summer that we were doing with App design and app development. And so this guide will really help take you along that way, and give you a good foundation to go write some code because it's not just about code, because code is just a tool to solve a problem. How do you come up with the problem you want to solve? That's the real trick. And that's what really makes it exciting. So I want to show you this book real quick. So this is a book with a couple of images Have some app prototypes my students have written for some projects this year. The guide walks you through using a app design journal to help you design out everything you want and what its gonna look like colors and all of those things that you need to think about before you start coding an app. So check it out on the apple bookstore.
